1. The 10 week training plan is programmed to start August 21st.
2. For the intermediate/advanced plan, you should already be used to running 40-60 miles a week and be comfortable with doing workouts 1-2x per week.
3. This training plan is still customizable to your schedule! If you are not ready for this intensity, try adding one of the Tuesday/Wednesday workouts into your training or you can always do a few less reps...any amount of harder effort training can go a long way!
4. Move days around as needed, but the general rule is to make sure you have 1-2 easy days between any harder efforts. A good way to monitor your progress is with a heart rate monitor so you can gauge what is a hard effort and what pace you should be keeping easy days.
5. You'll notice this schedule has 3 up weeks and then 1 down week cycle...keep the down week easy!
6. You'll notice strides are listed once per week for most of the schedule. So what is a stride? To run faster, we have to practice running faster! Strides are a simple way to build some speed and reinforce good form by doing just that. After your run, stop and take a few moments to breathe, walk, do some simple form drills. Then you'll "stride out" (i.e. run fast) for 20 seconds. These are not all-out sprints, but close to that, just more controlled. For strides, get up to 80-90% of how fast you would run a sprint. After the stride, stop and recover by walking around for 30-60 seconds before beginning the next one.

7. Strength training and mobility are important for runners. There are tons of YouTube videos with both strength and mobility routines that you can follow that are free and easy to do at home if you do not have access to a gym!

8. Change days of the week that you run on to work what's best for you. Just try to maintain the same general sequence of events. If you miss a day or two—don't panic. There is a great deal of flexibility in the schedule.

9. The weekend of September 2nd is our Virginia Beach 10 Miler. This is a great option to break up some of the long runs and get used to racing!

10. Have FUN and see you in 10 weeks!
